Solution: Tourism in Australia

These texts are sample solutions with the main ideas and answers. It is possible that your texts are slightly different.

1. Explain why tourism is important for Australia.

Tourism has become very important for Australia. Within the last twenty years the amount of the tourism industry in the GDP has risen from about 15,000,000 US-$ in 1997-98 to about 34,000,000 US-$ in 2011-12. In 2012-13 tourism contributed 32,851 million US-$ to the country's GDP. Tourists consume products and use services, so there were 542,600 people employed in the tourism industry in 2012-13, of which 295,600 worked full-time in this sector. Thus 4.7% of all employees work in the tourism industry making it an important industry for the country.

2. Describe what makes backpacking special.

Backpacking is mostly done by young people who have time to stay in a country longer. Backpackers usually travel from place to place by different means of transportation. Since they stay in the country for a long time, they need to save money and even earn it on their trip. So they stay in cheap hostels and look for jobs, so they can stay longer and get to know a place. After a few weeks they move on to another location. Thus, backpackers want to get to know the country they travel in very deeply.
